

ABSTRACT

- 5           A rotary cutting tool having the general form of a circular disk with cutting inserts secured tangentially to the circumference of the tool's body, for metal machining in general and for machining cam lobes. The cutting inserts have concave side surfaces and concave cutting edges.

10002180 120501